SOUTH-CAROLINA.

By His Excellency JAMES GLEN, Esquire, Governor in Chief, Captain-General, and Commander in and over His Majesty's Province aforesaid.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the General Assembly of this Province stands adjourned to Tuesday the Eleventh Day of November next: AND WHEREAS Matters of great Importance to the Welfare of this Province, require their immediate Consideration,

I HAVE therefore, by the Advice of His Majesty's Honourable Council, thought fit to issue this my Proclamation, to summon them to meet at the usual Place in Charles-Town, on Monday the Fifteenth Day of September Instant: And they are hereby required to meet at the said Time and Place accordingly.

Given under my Hand, and the Great Seal of His Majesty's said Province, this First Day of September, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty-five, and in the Twenty-ninth Year of His Majesty's Reign.

By His Excellency's Command,
Wm. Murray, pro Dep. Secr.

JAMES GLEN.

God save the KING.

HALIFAX, in Nova-Scotia, July 5.

BY an express which arrived here yesterday from the Bay, we hear, that Capt. Rous, and two other 20 gun ships, which convoyed our forces on the late expedition, were arrived at Annapolis, [illegible] river St. John's.

Tuesday last we had here some plentiful showers of rain, attended with severe thunder and lightning, which struck his majesty's ship the Terrible, admiral Holbourn, and wounded her main-top-mast so much, that they were obliged to put up another, and she is now compleatly refitted; no body on board was hurt. The lightning also struck his majesty's ship the Fougeux, capt. Spry, and shivered her main mast, main-top-mast, and main yard, but no person was hurt; she has been obliged to take them out, and is refitting.

Williamsburg, July 11. Last sunday an express arrived in town, with the melancholy news of several more of our inhabitants being cut off, on Holston's river. Capt. Stallnicher and his wife were taken prisoners, his mother and four children being in an out-house made their escape, and concealed themselves in a rye-patch till the affair was over; there were three more taken prisoners and killed. Col. Stewart, and William Long, on their return from fort Cumberland, where they had been to supply provisions for the army, were shot at three several times, but escaped unhurt to Augusta court-house, from whence they were about 45 miles distant.

Last wednesday the general assembly of this colony was prorogued to October next, after having passed a bill for raising 6,000*l.* by lotteries; and we hear the managers are to meet the second monday in next month, to distribute the tickets: They have likewise laid a tax of 2 shillings on all black tithables, and one shilling and three pence on every 100 acres of land which will raise about 10,000*l.* to be applied for supporting the forces upon the present expedition, for raising 3 independent companies, of 50 men each, with their officers, to range in the counties of Hampshire and Augusta on the frontiers of this colony, and for the expence of garrisoning fort Cumberland.

Halifax, July 12. On monday last, his majesty's ship Terrible, admiral Holbourn, with 3 other ships of the line, sailed from this place in order to join the fleet. And,

The next day the hon. vice admiral Boscawen, with 4 other ships of the line, arrived here; he was saluted by the discharge of the cannon from the batteries, and from on board capt. Taggart, and other vessels in the harbour, with other demonstrations of joy.

Yesterday arrived here his majesty's ship Monarque, the hon. rear-admiral Mostyn, with 4 other ships of the line, and one frigate, under his command: We have now in our harbour 2 admirals, with 11 sail of line of battle ships, exclusive of the Marsashore, and the 2 French 64-gun ships sent in by admiral Boscawen, which make a very grand appearance.

Annapolis, July 24. Tuesday morning last his excellency our governor set out from hence for Frederick county, and lodged that night at col. Tasker's (the late governor Ogle's) seat, at Bellair. We hear his excellency intends for fort Cumberland.

Subscription-papers having been handed about, to raise a sum of money towards defending our frontier inhabitants, 1000 l. in this county only, was subscribed in a few days.

Halifax, July 26. We are inform'd, the French have now in Louisbourg, an admiral, with 5 ships of the line, and a frigate: And that admiral Holbourn, with the squadron under his command, often comes within gun-shot of the Island battery, which makes monsieur's fingers itch to give them a salute in a rough manner, but that he remembers it is a time of peace.

We also hear, that the French have sent home two vessels with dispatches, to inform their master of the unpolite behaviour of the English, in taking and detaining two of his ships, when only going to take, as its thought, a peaceable possession of the metropolis of Nova Scotia, by which they could not possibly be thought to mean any harm—to themselves; and that they did not doubt, their master would resent it in a proper manner, and make himself ample amends for the affront.

Boston, July 28. By letters from Halifax, dated the 14th instant, we are informed, that they had certain advice there, that about 1300 of the French troops, and 4 of their ships, are got into Louisbourg harbour, where they are blocked up by our fleet: The remainder are either got into St. Lawrence river, or returned to France. That every thing goes well at Chignecto: Col. Monckton is repairing and strengthening the two forts at Beauséjour and Gaspereau, both which may be easily made very strong: He has ordered an exact survey of the lands that have been cultivated both on the isthmus and without it, which are said to be very rich and fertile. That it is the governor's fixed resolution not to suffer the French inhabitants to remain there longer than 'till the forts are put in a proper state of defence. That vice admiral Boscawen and rear-admiral Mostyn were come into Halifax to refit, and that admiral Holbourn was cruizing off Louisbourg. That every body at Halifax, but especially the governor, are full of the highest encomiums on the behaviour of the New-England troops under col. Monckton's command: He has represented their good conduct in so striking a light, as must give the highest satisfaction to the public in general, but more especially to those who are more immediately connected with them.

Annapolis, July 31. By letters in town we understand, that col. Dunbar, with the remainder of the 2 regiments and 3 independent companies, under his command, were to march from fort Cumberland on tuesday last, for Ray's town in Pennsylvania. The same letters mention the arrival of one Stout at fort Cumberland, who gave them the following account: That about the middle of June last, he and his family were carried off from the back parts of this province, by a party of Indians, to fort Du Quisne; that when he came thither the French had not above 400 men in the fort; that on the 2d of July, about 1300 Indians, and 1100 French, came down the Ohio, and in a few days afterwards several other large parties of both French and Indians arrived also from other parts: That a small party of French, with about 2000 Indians, were soon after sent out to harrass our army on their march, who understanding the route the general had taken, determined to have disputed his passage over the Monongahela, but coming too late for that purpose, found him in the valley where the action happened: That after the engagement, the Indians pursued our people to the Monongahela, scalped and plundered all that were left upon the field, except 5 or 6, who not being able to keep pace with the victors in their return to the fort, were all treated in the same manner, one Virginian only surviving it.

He further says, that the same day of the attack, all the artillery, &c. was carried into the fort, and the plunder distributed amongst the Indians; a great number of whom, the 2d day afterwards, took their leaves, and set out [as Stout supposed] for Canada, [but we judge it most likely, for Niagara, or other French forts.] carrying this Stout with them a prisoner, who the first night afterwards made his escape from them, and with much difficulty arrived at fort Cumberland, almost famished. He says, the French have now about 3000 men at the fort,

His excellency our governor, with a body of men, is now in the western parts of this province.

Williamsburg, July 24. We hear the hon. commodore Keppel will embark for England this week.

His majesty's ships Nightingale, Port Mahon, and Baltimore, are sailed from Hampton road to the Northward, and we hear the Seahorse, Centurion, and Norwich will sail to morrow, and the Hornet next week.

Philadelphia, July 31. A letter from Carlisle of the 2nd instant, mentions, "That the inhabitants of Juniata are intirely come away, and our people in general in great trouble and confusion."

In another letter from Carlisle of the same date, there is the following paragraph. "We are now in the utmost confusion, not knowing what hand to turn to, being more afraid of the Indians (whom we doubt were the late murderers on the new road) than of the French. Our back settlers are in general fled and are likely to be ruined by the loss of their crops and summer's labour; several of them on Juniata having left some part of their houshold furniture in the flight, and fleece, going back to fetch or hide it, have found every thing broken and destroyed by the Indians, and their horses in the corn fields."

Extract of a Letter from Berks County, dated July 27.

"The people on the West side of Susquehanna, in the new purchase, are coming away, 2 families having been murdered on Juniata; some are gathering together to defend themselves, others are coming on this side the mountains. The miserable condition most of these people are in I cannot express."

Boston, August 4. By letters from Halifax, we have advice, that the schooner with live stock, &c. which was sent from this government, as a present to admiral Boscawen, was arrived there, and was received by him in a very obliging manner.

By a vessel from Chignecto, which arrived here yesterday, we learn, that our forces in Nova-Scotia were generally in good health; and that orders were expected every hour from Halifax, what further services they should be destined to. That capt. Rous had sailed for Halifax in the Success man of war, and that the Mermaid and Syren were under sail for the same place, pursuant to orders from admiral Boscawen.

We hear from Winchester, near fort Dunmore, that 4 men belonging to that place, were lately killed by the Indians, and another taken captive.

We have the following List of the French fleet, by a gentleman just arrived from Halifax, viz.

Ships that came out of Brest, with Mons. Macnamara, and parted from those bound to America (after having sailed 300 leagues together) on the 9th of May, (without) signal, Macnamara lying to when they made sail.

Newhaven, Auguſt 2. From Stockbridge, there comes a report, that their Indians have killed 12 Canada Indians, and taken 7 more priſoners.

Extract of a Letter, dated Montreal, in Canada, May 10, 1755. Written to the Rev. Mr. Phineas Stevens, Paſtor, &c. at Contoocook.

"I will write all the news I dare, for I do not know when I write, but my letter will be opened before they go out of the country. I think Contoocook cannot be very ſorrowful, as the Indians have great encouragement for their ſcalps, and ſcalping; they cannot make money any other way, as by taking Engliſhmen, and bringing them for Quebec; and the French are very willing to buy them; for when they buy a man, or woman, for 3 or 400 livres, they pay in paper money or goods, and they will aſk double in ſilver; and they make them live and work like Negroes, till they pay juſt what they aſk. As for my part I always thought the Indians was very kind to me, till they ſold me to a man, I don't know what to call him! He uſed me ſo barbarouſly, that his own country people offered him the money he gave for me three times, which he refuſed, becauſe he expected to have ſilver money for me; ſo that I lived with him till the 20th of January, when I left him, and went into the country to work, where I ſtayed till the 19th of March. I came to town to ſee if I could hear any news from New-England, and he ſaw me, and went to the general in order to confine me in priſon, where he keeps me on bread and water; and here I muſt ſtay till I am redeemed, if it be this 7 years firſt. When I ſent a letter to the general to let him know how I had been uſed ſince I had been in this country, he would not read it; neither will he hear any perſon that goes to ſpeak for me; for, ſays he," When the Indians bring Engliſh here, they cry to the French to buy them, and when they buy them out of charity, they are great lords, and will not work." This you muſt wonder at, when you come to know their reaſons: They know that 20 Indians will do more damage to our country, than all Canada; and they are willing to give them all the encouragement they can, ſo that if an Engliſhman is uſed ever ſo bad, in this country, the commanders of it will not hear their complaint for fear they ſhould diſcourage the French from buying them; which would hinder the Indians from taking them. Another thing is, it brings ſilver money into the country, and they have but little of it. So I would have all my country people take care to keep out of their hands, for this is their deſign, if they come, either to be ſlaves or priſoners, on bread and water. I do not think there is danger of a body of Indians attacking any fort, for all the forces of the French and Indians are gone to Ohio, which they all Belle River. Enos Bishop.

The above was taken from a letter ſent to the Rev. Mr Robert Breck, of Springfield, part of which is as follows.

"Reverend Sir,

"I have ſent this letter copied from the original, "and ſhould be glad you would take the pains to get "it publiſhed in the public papers, to move the pity "of people, and to ſtir them to reſent the conduct "of the French."

New-York, Auguſt 4. The advices from Albany ſince our laſt, are, major Leyman, with a detachment of 500 men, were ſafely arrived at Still Water, about 28 miles from that place, where they were conducted by a number of the inhabitants from Albany; that major general Shirley, with all his forces, were on their march for Oſwego; and that major general Johnſon only waited the arrival of ſome warlike ſtores, before he ſet out; that a company of about 30 Indians went from Dutcheſs county laſt week, in order to join the army at Albany; that on the 30th ult. the French Indians carried one Groot, from Schenectady; and on the 24th following, William Hall, commonly called ſquire Hall, and his ſon, with Jonathan Stevens, ſon of Nicholas Stevens, and one Potman, were all taken by the Indians, within a few miles of col. Glen's, at Scotia, and carried to Canada.

We hear from Oſwego, that on the 22th of July laſt, there was a conſiderable number of Indians trading at that place, amongſt whom were ſeveral great men of different nations, and that after capt. Bradſtreet had made them a ſpeech relative to the times, their anſwer to him was, "He had effectually opened their eyes, and that they would no longer be tools to the French, but would live in ſtrict friendſhip and brotherly love with the Engliſh; and if neceſſary, die with them." He ended his entertainment on the 13th, by launching one of the large veſſels, and firing 3 cannon as ſhe went off, which gave great pleaſure to the Indians; and the traders there agree, that they were entirely ignorant in Indian affairs 'till now.

Philadelphia, Auguſt 7. Tueſday night an expreſs arrived here from major-general Shirley; by which there is reaſon to believe that his excellency is now at Oſwego.

Extract of a letter from Carliſle, July 28.

"Since the late defea. of our army, we in theſe parts lie much expoſed to the incurſions of the enemy. But if our ſuperiors would take advantage of the ſpirit that is at this time among the people, all might be ſoon retrieved. I am confident, that were matters well planned, and headed by men of importance in the different colonies, there would be no want of volunteers ſufficient to do the work, and willing to bear great part of their own expences, or at leaſt would be very willing to pay ſuch taxes as would be ſufficient, if it even amounted to half their eſtates. The ſingle queſtion now, with moſt people here, ſeems to be, WHETHER THEY SHALL GO WEST, and take a chance of SAVING their eſtates, OR EAST, and LOSE ALL."

New York, Auguſt 11. A letter from Albany of the 5th inſt. ſays, "We have news that capt. Bradſtreet has ſunk ſeveral canoes on Ontario lake. "And that two companies poſted at Saraghtoga, had "happily diſcovered their cartouch boxes, not to "have any bullets in 'em; an Old-England man it "ſeems made their charges up, and he is now in "irons."

We are told, that when general Johnſon made known to the Indians under his command the defeat of the Britiſh forces on the banks of Monongahela, they received the intelligence with little or no concern, and remain'd ſilent for ſome minutes, when the whole body as one man roſe up and told him in ſubſtance, That they were not at all ſurpized to hear it, as they were men who had croſſed the great water, and unacquainted with the arts of war among the Americans; and as it had happened ſo, it could not be help'd; it only becomes us (continued the Indians) in our preſent march to walk with more circumſpection, and to redouble our diligence in all our attacks, that ſo we may convince KING GEORGE we are his friends, and redeem the honour his folks have loſt."

By letters from Albany, dated the 6th inſtant, we learn, that major-general Johnſon was, that day, to ſet out for the Flats, his artillery being gone before; where he propoſed to remain only 24 hours, then to proceed with his whole force, for the intended expedition; and that two of his majeſty's ſloops of war, were gone on a ſmall cruize, in order to make ſome diſcoveries on lake Ontario.

Tueſday laſt, his majeſty's ſnow of war the Baltimore, capt. Suckling, ſailed from hence for Nova-Scotia, in order to join his Britannic majeſty's fleet, now cruizing off that place and Louiſbourg.

We have advice from Halifax, of the 14th of July laſt, that one of the tranſports ſent from Beauſejour to Louiſbourg with the French troops on board, had returned and put into that port, the captain of which reported, that the French garriſon at Cape-Breton was in great diſtreſs for want of proviſions and other neceſſaries [with which they have been for many years paſt been conſtantly ſupplied, by ſmugglers from our Northern colonies]. It is therefore hoped, that the excellent laws paſſed by the ſeveral legiſlatures on this continent, prohibiting the exportation of proviſions to that or any other the dominions of the French king, or places at preſent in poſſeſſion of any of his ſubjects, may continue for ſome months longer; it not being doubted, but that we ſhall thereby be enabled to do as much with the ſword of famine as thoſe of ſteel.

Philadelphia, Auguſt 14. The Britiſh troops under the command of col. Dunbar, were laſt ſaturday at Conacogig, in their way to this city; which troops are ordered to join major general Shirley with all expedition.

We are aſſured, that the general aſſembly of New-Jerſey have granted 30,000 l. towards the preſent expedition.

This Morning came to Town, an Expreſs from Fort Cumberland [at Wills's Creek] with Advice, that the French had appeared there, and ſummoned the Commander to ſurrender in ſix Days.

Amſterdam, April 28. On ſaturday the Cameels from Enkhuizen were brought to aſſiſt in getting our men of war over the Pompus, five of which only are in Texel, the remaining ſhips, carrying 44 guns, being unable to get over the bar. In the like exigence lay the Dutch fleet ſeveral months, when the late rebellion required it on the coaſts of England, the Cameels all that time proving uſeleſs.—A Cameel is an engine compoſed of large wooden caſes, made to fit the ſhip's bottom, which being ſunk are faſten'd together, and cannot riſe without bringing the ſhip up alſo. Theſe caſes thus ſunk and faſten'd, being emptied of the waters by pumps, the whole becomes ſpecifically lighter.

London, April 26. By private letters from Peterſburgh we are informed, that a certain foreign miniſter having inſinuated to the high chancellor, count Beſtucheff, that foreign nations might probably be alarmed at the great military preparations making throughout the empire, the chancellor anſwered, that her imperial majeſty owed no account of her meaſures to her neighbours; that the vaſt extent of her dominions excluded ſo much as the wiſh of making conqueſts; and that the happineſs of her own ſubjects, and the tranquillity of Europe, were the ſole objects of her care.

London, May 10. Seven thouſand ſtand of new arms are ready in the Tower to be ſent immediately to Ireland.

From a perſon of credit we are told, that on wedneſday night and thurſday morning laſt above 900 men were impreſſed in the river.

St, John's, Antigua, July 19. Laſt tueſday, and many days before, a number of ſmall arms, made by Henſhaw and Gandon, completely accoutred, were delivered, from the publick arſenal in this town, to ſeveral perſons who were deficient, agreeable to the reſolution lately come to by our honourable legiſlature, for the better regulation of the Militia and defence of this iſland: And, according to a late advertiſement in the gazettes, a mazarine blue uniform is to take place from the date thereof. When the ſaid uniform is completed, and the inhabitants are unanimous in juſtly thinking there is ſome merit in a proper knowledge and competent exerciſe of military diſcipline, and frugality in ſaving their fines, (which, we hear, as a further inducement for every claſs of men to appear in the field, are intended to be augmented) our militia will perhaps out do, or at leaſt vye with, that of any other government in the ſpacious territories of Engliſh-America; and, O that it may! is the earneſt prayer of every Britiſh-Antigonian and true foe to Gallic encroachments, or the leſs-artful (tho' equally unjuſt) pretenſions of not-abſolutely-indolent Spain.

CHARLES-TOWN, Sept. 4.

By Capt. Loſtus, in 14 Days from Philadelphia, we learn, that an Embargo had been laid on the Shipping there; that the Time for which it was laid had juſt expired when he left that Place; and that it was expected every Moment to be renewed: That upon the News of General Braddock's Defeat, the General Aſſembly of Pennſylvania had been called, and came to a Reſolution to grant the Sum of £.50,000 their Money, for the King's Uſe; but had laid an inſurmountable Difficulty in the Bill, to the Governor's Aſſent; That Major-General Shirley has ſent to the Northern Colonies for Reinforcements; and that People were in Pain for the Iſſue of his Expedition, the French ſeeming to have drawn their Forces from all Quarters towards Niagara.

On Monday laſt died, Miſs Suſannah Brewton, a young Lady whoſe Death is truly lamented by all that knew her, as ſhe was poſſeſſed of all thoſe Qualifications that could render her reſpectable.
